A practical, microscope-based workshop designed for haematology laboratory professionals to enhance their understanding of morphology. Choose either Saturday or Sunday - the same program is delivered on both days. Participants will examine a diverse range of intermediate to advanced red cell, white cell and paediatric cases, with a focus on lymphocyte morphology and a selection of mystery cases, using their own microscope and slide set. Experienced morphologists will be on hand throughout the day to lead discussion, answer questions and share practical insights.
